BERLIN PAPER FLAYS GERMAN-AMERICANS

Amsterdam, May 11.—Bitter condemnation of German-Americans is a feature of an article in the Greuz Zeitung on mobilization in the United States.

The writer first seeks comfort in expressing utter disdain for the present American army, comments on the costliness of volunteer recruiting and the obstacles to conscription, such as a lack of lists of men capable of bearing arms.

Referring to the loyal resolutions passed at meetings of German-Americans he says:

"German-Americans could not betray their old mother country more shamefully, seeing that nobody will assert that the existence of the United States is endangered by Germany. The more pitiful is the cowardly zeal with which the 2,000,000 German-Americans disown their race in time of distress.

"The term 'German' faithfulness is hereby forever dishonored. Nothing any longer binds us to these German-Americans. We only cherish one wish—that as speedily as possible they erase the word German from the name of their organizations, its use being as insulting to the German people as to themselves."

APPEAL TO THE CHANCELLOR

Berlin Papers May Quit Because of Paper Shortage.

Copenhagen, May 11.—The Berlin newspaper publishers have informed Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg that they are in pressing danger of being forced to suspend publication at the end of this week or the beginning of next owing to the paper shortage.

They ask the chancellor to take steps to increase the supply and particularly to furnish fuel for paper factories.

The situation was recently emphasized by the newspapers refusing to publish a speech before the reichstag by Vice Chancellor Helfferich.

The remaining eight will be of the trawler classification. All are to be of steel.

Exports to Allies Increase. Washington, May 11.—American exports to Europe in March, the second month of unrestricted submarine warfare, showed an increase of more than 20 per cent over February. Only Complete Defeat Germany will Assure the World Happiness

(By United Press) Petrograd, May 11.—"Only a complete defeat of Germany will insure the world happiness, and peace now would be only an armistice. Russia cannot betray the allies with whom she has been fighting for three years," says President Rodzianko of the duma in pleading with that body for an unwavering continuance of Russia's part in war. "Do not forget that German workers, however, are socialistic and may ardently desire German victory, and naturally would support the government of imperialistic aspirations," he said.

Will Act on Peace Proposals Only After Consulting

(By United Press) Washington, May 11.—No effort has been made to fix an agreement with the British war chiefs during the conference here, the state department announces. But while not bound by any agreement, written or understood, with the allies concerning action on peace proposals that might come from Germany the state department reiterates its declaration that probably action on the same would only be taken after a consultation with the allies.

Peace Forming Supposed to be "Happy Solution"

(By United Press) Copenhagen, May 11.—The German newspapers are beginning to send press agents to the socialist conference at Stockholm in June. The inference drawn from German newspapers is that peace with Russia is forming, and this is supposed to be the "Happy Event" referred to in connection with the deferred peace speech of Chancellor Von Hollweg.

Allies Revise Plans For its War Aims Respect to Turkey

(By United Press) Paris, May 11.—Belgium's flag to fly over Constantinople and Belgium to control the Dardanelles is the revised plans of the allies respecting Turkey. It is stated on high authority that this program has been discussed in high official circles of the allied governments, and since New Russia has denounced the dream of dominating the straits the change in the Turkish problem has been forced upon the allies.

The entente will not think of ending the war with Turkey still in Europe, and to grant arbitrary control of the most important waterway in Europe to any great powers might endanger jealousy and also the future peace. The key to the Bosphorus is likely to be handed Belgium as a reward for their terrible sacrifice.

SHOWS PRESENCE OF MIND

Young Woman Causes Arrest of High-way Robber.

Chicago, May 11.—An indication that the mystery surrounding the thefts of jewels, valued at $7,500, from Mrs. J. Ogden Armour at her home here more than a year ago was contained in a confession made to the police by Robert Burroughs, a chauffeur. Burroughs, with William Webb and Y. Williams, all negroes, was arrested in connection with the robbery of a $5,700 payroll from officers of the Illinois tool works here.

Burroughs told the police the two negroes robbed Mrs. Armour when she was held up in her home.

The capture of the holdup men was effected through the presence of mind of a young woman who was a witness of the robbery. She noted the number of the automobile in which the negroes left the scene of the robbery, called up the police and told of the holdup.

Two Cyclones at Little Falls

(Transcript)

Little Falls has been visited by two cyclones this year.

Neither of the cyclones, which were regular twisters on a small scale, did much damage. The first one started somewhere west of the Pine Tree yards, tore the tops off several lumber piles, moved a small bathhouse on the east bank about a foot from where it stood and passed through the city to the east, doing slight damage to the gardens and dragging a wash line full of clothes on the roof of the Pine Tree office.

Sometime before Wednesday it got to where it was going and Wednesday afternoon it made its second appearance, following exactly the same path. On its way across the Mississippi it picked up a canoe belonging to William Rothwell on the east bank and deposited it in the middle of the river. The canoe was recaptured by men from the Pine Tree office.

Minus QuantityBY MARGARET MASON
(Written for the United Press)Annette's for preparedness
So keeps on the fight
Of hoisting up dumb bells
Both morning and night.
That gowns would be sleeveless
This season she wist
So seeks to be well armed
From shoulder to wrist.New York, May 11—Sleeves are indeed becoming minus quantity.
Soon they will be as extinct as the ichthyornis. In seasons past we have bravely and unflinchingly presented arms to leg-o-mutton, bishop, puff, balloon, bell, tight, flowing, mous-quetaire, wing and angel sleeves but this year a sleeve by any other name would still be next to nothing.At least this sleeveless fashion will free us from the shadow of arrest for carrying concealed weapons since we no longer carry our arms up our sleeves but go around brandishing them quite open and above board.Positively anyone appearing in anything as obsolete and outrageous as a sleeve in an evening gown would be taken out and shot at sunrise. Even the ordinary quota of two jeweled straps or two bead strands, one over each shoulder, has become a bit too sleevy for the extreme sleeveless enthusiasts and so they are left with but a single strap to cling to.In their struggle for existence the sleeves in the afternoon and daytime frocks and gowns are worn to mere shadows of their former substantial selves. They are thin and fragile and wraithlike of Georgette crepe, chiffon, net or shadow laces. Most of them have dwindled or shrunk to half of their former great lengths and as elbow sleeves are content at most to reach to the funny bone.Just a few regulation sleeves there are left in daytime frocks that will pass muster. These are for wear with the new sleeveless jackets and short coats. For yes, even the coatsOne is tied around the wrist with a little tassel-ended ribbon and then flares out again in a fitted frill below the tie. Another Georgette sleeve in a taffeta frock has a snug little cuff of the folded taffeta finished with a flat pump bow with one loop longer than the other that juts out to the side in a most perky fashion.Another sleeve to a crepe dress with a beaded bodice has a beaded cuff that fits tight up to the elbow and then flares out into a fullness of beaded crepe.Another of gabardine has a tight cuff with three rows of stitching fastened with a flat bone button, the stitching and the buttons repeated three times up to the elbow where the sleeve juts out at a tangent. A white satin finish on a Chinese blue charmeuse sleeve is a cuff that turns down with two points over the hand
that are adangle each with a white tassel just waiting to drop into one's soup.So you see you may scrap up a sleeve or two to laugh in this season
but the laugh is bound to be an empty or hollow one and nine times out of ten it is apt to be on you.

cut, high-length, affairs they are of serge, gabardine, velvet or satin usually elaborately embroidered in gayly colored threads. They are perfect in every sense except a sleeve sense
and when it comes to the places where these ought to be there is absolutely nothing. You must bear with these little coats however.
Though they have their shortcomings
they are not really meant for wear with bare arms.For every little sleeveless coat
there is a fetching frock with sleeves
to bear it company and thus supply all deficiencies. If slack a lack of sleaves must be dubbed deficiency.Zuave, bolero and monkey jackets are numbered among these smart new sleeveless coats and pony jackets, too, are very racey. Those that are not embroidered are stitched and almost all and every one boasts a tassel or two somewhere on it. The sleeves on the gowns that go with these sleeveless coats invariably bob with a tassel at their cuff. Sort of survival of the fittest these sleeves are,
too, since they are all close fitting and arm fitted.Apropos of the finish of the fast disappearing sleeve species, whether it is a quick finish or not, at least it is a novel one in almost every instance.One is tied around the wrist with a little tassel-ended ribbon and then

Nobody can Tell.The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked
and faded hair is grandmother's recipe,
and folks are again using it to keep their hair good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussel mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 30 cents a bottle.
It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft luster and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

More Power at Less Cost

Both Series 18 Studebaker FOUR and Series 18
Studebaker SIX are noted for their great power, and especially their great power in ratio to their very low consumption of gasoline.It has taken Studebaker four years to improve, refine and perfect the wonderful Studebaker motor.
It has been developed through the experience of 250,000 cars in the hands of owners. It is only through an evolution like this, that perfection of power in ratio to fuel consumption can possibly be developed.There are no secret processes; no basic patents; no features of design that are unknown or prohibited by patents. The Engineer can use what he wishes, but he can only know how to use the best features by continually improving, refining and perfecting—through the experience of a motor in actual service.This is why Studebaker can truthfully claim that the design of its motor is unsurpassed in simplicity, accessibility and power. By the refinement of reciprocating parts, vibration has been reduced to an almost unobservable minimum.The bearing areas of the motor have been enlarged and increased, giving greater durability,
more strength, still further insuring smooth, vi-brationless operation.But you cannot appreciate the splendid POWER of the Studebaker car until you try it.

For the information of the public attention is called to Chapter 320 of the revised laws of Minnesota, which provides for punishment for the driving of automobiles and the qualifications of drivers, and incidentally to state that the provisions are to be enforced.

The chapter specifically states that anyone who is found guilty of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor shall be considered guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be dealt with according to the criminal laws of the state.

It is also provided that anyone found guilty of doing so shall have their licenses to drive revoked for a period of three months.

Washington dispatches say that today's high prices for food can be cut in half by government control. If this is true, and it probably is, there should be no hesitancy or delay in putting the plan in operation. The people have been robbed by food speculators long enough and they should consider themselves lucky to have been left alone thus long. Flour at $16 per barrel with the prospect of $20, according to Herbert C. Hoover, and other things in proportion makes the "eat" habit a hard one to satisfy for the man in moderate means.

On account of the food shortage, First Vice President George T. Slade, of the Northern Pacific railway, has given permission to immediately turn all the company's beautiful parks along the line into potato and vegetable gardens. The amount of vegetables and potatoes that can be raised through this method is enormous, and a very good and most wonderful lesson for all concerned, for the future, will result. This will help materially the food shortage during this terrible war.

The Red Cross is organized to aid the soldiers on the march, on the field, in hospitals and finally to care for the widows and orphans of those who fall in our country's cause. If you can't join the army you certainly can join a patriotic body that is organized to work in the interest of the boys who are bearing the brunt of the battle and fighting for every interest that is dear.

Chicago newspapers have doubled their price. Under the heavy tax placed upon the newspapers throughout the country for war purpose this is necessary by other publications if the present standard of efficiency is maintained. The tax, extra telegraph tolls and increase in paper prices make this necessary.

The item published in the Dispatch regarding a 50 cent charge by banks when the average account fell below a certain sum has been misconstrued. It does not apply to local institutions but has been put in force in the Twin Cities.

Germans Still Retain Possession of French Village and Are Making
Strenuous Efforts to Oust the Cana-

Adjacent Vantage Points.

London, May 11.—The expected general offensive along the Macedonian fronts apparently has been started with full vigor. From Lake Ochrida eastward to the region about Lake Doiran numerous big battles are in progress, with the entente allies the aggressors.

Southwest of Lake Doiran the British have captured Bulgarian trenches at one point on a front of two miles to a depth of about 500 yards and consolidated the ground, despite heavy counter attacks.

Northwest of Monastir, in the Cerna river region and on various other sectors, the entente forces are carrying out heavy operations, both with artillery and infantry.

In the famous Cerna river bend the Russians have captured several enemy entrenchments, while in the upper valley of the Moglenica river the Serbians struck hard at the invaders of their country and took from them two points of support and several prisoners.

Germans Still Hold Fresno.

The village of Fresno apparently remains in the hands of the Germans after its recapture Tuesday, the Canadians and South Englanders still are holding vantage points around it from which the Germans are endeavoring to expel them and put an end to their harassing fire.

East of Bullecourt, where the British have established themselves, scant two miles from the outskirts of Quent, the Germans are striving hard to push them back to prevent the capture of the southern end of the Drocourt-Quent line, which would prove a great menace to the important town of Cambrai.

The viciousness of the battle is indicated by the German official communication, which announces the fight for the village is of a fluctuating nature.

The British evidently have pushed a step forward toward the capture of the town of Lens and the important coal fields in its immediate vicinity. South of the Souchez river in a night attack another portion of the German front and support lines, with several prisoners was captured.

Amsterdam, May 11.—Hamburg merchants indulge in no hopes that Antwerp will pass under German control, according to the Hamburg papers. At a meeting of the leading business men of the port, called for the discussion of canal projects, a resolution was adopted condemning the proposition to build a canal from the Main to the Danube. Herr Mathies, president of the Hamburg chamber of commerce, said that such a canal would merely profit Rotterdam and Antwerp, whose harbors were not German and never would be German.

The meeting adopted a resolution urging the government to build a canal from the Elbe to the Danube with the greatest speed possible.

TOOK PAY ON ENEMY SHIPS

More Than One Hundred Americans
Held in Germany.

Washington, May 11.—That 127 Americans still are held prisoners in Germany, probably removed from captured armed merchantmen, was revealed at the state department. It is assumed that the men were brought to Germany by raiders operating in the South Atlantic.

The men are held not because of their American nationality, but because they took pay on enemy armed merchantmen. Other Americans in Germany are understood to be entirely unmolested, except for slightly increased police regulations under Germany's policy not to recognize a state of war with this country.

Germany Must Pay
$160,000,000,000
Installment IndemnityBY W. E. FORNESS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Paris, April 15 (By Mail).—By the end of July, 1917, Germany will have incurred liability to the Allies for an after-the-war indemnity of one hundred and sixty thousand million dollars.

This figure comes today from the pen of Jean Finot, well known French editor, author and statistician, writing in the current number of La Revue, of which he is editor.

"A peace of a hundred years," is the title of the article. This is only possible the author argues by forcing Germany to purge herself of future militarism. The remedy—the only remedy—he points out, is an "installment indemnity" to the allies from Germany of about two billion four hundred million dollars a year.

On the theory that German militarism was responsible for the world catastrophe and the German people were responsible for militarism, the author says that the German people should accept the lesson of future peace by paying every cent of the damage. Germany's national wealth before the war was placed at eight hundred millions of dollars. The "installment indemnity" is therefore the way for the Allies to exact their toll. The author adds:

The German people are solidarized with the emperor and his soldiers. Having committed unutterable crimes at the emperor's instigation, the people should participate in the reparation for these crimes.

"While it appears that such a series of indemnities would work ruin to Germany, the contrary is the case," the author says.

Germany would be forced to abandon her annual gigantic military budget of several hundred millions of dollars for her fleet and armies. This element alone would radically transform Germany. Millions of would-be soldiers would be thrown into useful occupations.

"After all that has happened," the author asks, "could any nation rest secure and have faith in a treaty signed by Germany? What remains then for a peaceful Europe of the future but to force Germany to disarm?"

Touching on Allied war losses which will figure in a future indemnity, the statistician says that at the end of 1914 alone the Allies counted their debts at about five thousand millions. He compares this to the cost of the American Civil war which was about $7,000,000,000. He declares that France, England and Italy alone are spending about $2,000,000,000 a month. These are expenses and do not include devastated provinces, deportations and ruin of civilian populations. He mentions 20,000,000 allied soldiers in arms at an average upkeep of four dollars a day; the prodigious expenditure for munitions with single shells costing $3,000; added to the expense of the Allied fleets and mercantile shipping losses from German submarines.

The writer even computes in his sum-total of a possible German indemnity the amount of losses to Allied families of bread winners and the cost in the future for orphans and widows. He adds:

"Modern wars place hors de combat about a third of their combatants. It can be estimated that between six and seven million men of Allied armies will have been lost or rendered useless for life by the war.

German statisticians value the life of a German soldier at $4,000. If the Allies are charitable enough to admit that the life of a soldier fighting for right and liberty is of no greater value we arrive here alone at the round figure of $24,000,000,000.

"The Allies must ask the full amount due them from the perpetrators of this war. The unique means outlined is the only way to destroy Prussian militarism and at the same time render the Germans, themselves, sociable."

The German people are solidarized with the emperor and his soldiers. Having committed unutterable crimes at the emperor's instigation, the people should participate in the reparation for these crimes.

Sandwich, Ont., May 10—James Hogue, alias Steward, notorious American crook, today paid with his life for the murder of W. Marshall Jackson, Canadian deportation officer, of Winnipeg. He died on the scaffold in the Sandish jail yard.

Hogue shot down Jackson in the smoking compartment of a Canadian Pacific passenger train near Windsor last January. He was in Jackson's custody, being brought to the border to be turned over to Michigan authorities to answer a charge of safe-blowing in Battle Creek, Mich. Jackson was killed with his own revolver, which Hogue had extracted from the officers pocket. Following the shooting, the prisoner jumped from the speeding train and escaped. Four days later, weak from cold and hunger, he made his way to a Windsor hotel where he was captured.

Wheels of Canadian justice turned speedily. The prisoner was brought into court, tried, convicted and sentenced to die in a single day.

Today's execution was the first in Essex county in 17 years.

WASTE PAPER DEPOT STARTED

Will be Opened May 24-25, Inaugurated by the Public Affairs Committee Chamber Commerce

WILL SAVE OVER $3,000 A YEAR

Aid to Keep Streets Clean Too, Will Convert Into Cash What Was Pure Waste Before

The waste paper depot, formerly the warehouse of the Fitger Brewing company on Front street, which has been secured through the courtesy of J. H. Mueller for use of the Public Affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce, will be open to the public Thursday and Friday, May 24-25 at which time waste paper may be brought there, weighed and made ready for shipment to the mills.

Persons who ship through the committee will be expected to assist in the baling and loading of the paper, scales will be put in at the depot, clerks there to list each lot and the work carried on with dispatch in order not to accumulate a large amount of paper for any length of time. A car will be spotted at the warehouse and shipment made just as soon as a lot is secured. All who expect to take advantage of the plan to save a great waste and to aid the community in general, are invited to list their paper with the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at once, that is, advise him how much they expect to have, whether baled or not and other information. Paper must be delivered by owners at the warehouse.

Rules and Regulations

The committee wishes it understood that it assumes no responsibility in the matter of shipment, loss by fire or other exigencies. It will act as the medium between the mills and the owners of waste paper, securing the lowest possible freight rate and best prices for paper, if the public will only co-operate and assist. It is estimated that from $3,000 to $4,000 in waste paper can be shipped from this city in a year by this practical plan.

The warehouse will be open only on the two days of the month mentioned.

A baler will be placed there and may be used by the public to prepare paper for shipment.

It is best to have all paper neatly tied in bundles, free from dirt, rags, twine and filth of any kind. Have your paper baled if possible.

The premises must be kept neat and tidy, no loose paper left about the warehouse or car tracks.

The expense of loading, baling and congregating the paper will be taken out of the receipts and the net amount divided pro rata among the owners.

Your weights, those of the committee at the warehouse and the weights received from the mills or company receiving the paper will all be recorded.

The committee is not engaging in the purchase of waste paper, is not making a dollar on the project and its only object is to serve the public and encourage the saving of this one great item of waste.

Preparing Paper

There are but three grades of paper worth sorting, mixed, newspaper and magazine or book paper.

Mixed paper includes anything made of paper, postcard boxes, straw board, etc. It must be kept free from dirt, string and foreign matter.

Newspaper stock simply means old newspapers of any kind, folded and kept in good condition and baled.

Magazine or white book stock includes high grade book paper either in magazines, circulars, or book form. Do not fail to tear off the pasteboard backs or portions of cheap paper from this stock.

A neighbor saw the string sticking at a point in the eaves, started pulling on what seemed an endless chain and discovered the nest and found the loaded shuttle at the other end of the line on the ground.

"Send a policeman right up to our house," came the excited call addressed to Mayor Biese. "What's the matter," asked the mayor.

"There's a crazy man near us and he's trying to fish in back yard," was the reply.

"Maybe he's a fisherman who's casting," said the mayor.

The mayor looked for a police man and before even the hurry up call had been sent out, the lady again telephoned and said the lady whose husband was a fisherman had mentioned that whipping out a rod and reel and throwing bait around and seeing how far he could throw the fish line without tangling up with her clothes line was "casting."

So the individual who had alarmed a whole neighborhood kept on throwing bait, although as one woman remarked, fishing on dry land did appear to be a foolish kind of a thing to do.

For quick work on the part of a Dispatch want ad, here is just a sample of what the little wonder workers can do. Saturday James R. Smith advertised a house for sale. A lady read the ad and looked at the house Sunday and bought it on Monday.

THE NAVY IS GETTING BUSY TOO

Bemidji Division of Navy Ready to Enter Sea Duty at Philadelphia Duluth Army Notes

Private Raymond Lowery says he will soon have another section ready for the army. He is being assisted by Private William Sloane in recruiting. Of the boys who recently went to Duluth, Charles A. Rounds of Backus and Oscar F. Magnuson of Brainerd have joined the infantry; Thomas G. Brown of Brainerd, the cavalry; Clyde W. Bundy and Forest L. Bundy of Backus the medical corps.

The Bemidji naval contingent is about ready to enter sea duty at Philadelphia. Special Recruiting Officer A. K. Boyd, stationed at the postoffice, will soon have another contingent ready for the front.

Dr. R. J. Sewall, formerly of Crosby, now medical officer of the Second battalion, First Minnesota regiment, is stationed in Duluth at present, in charge of the battalion infirmary. He is well known on the Cuyuna and Mesaba ranges, having previously had a hospital in Crosby. Some years ago he was physician at Coleraine. He served eight months on the border, and after a furlough of eleven days, the battalion was again called out by the president, and has been doing guard duty along the water front of St. Louis bay. Dr. Sewall holds the rank of first Lieutenant.

WISCONSIN VOTES IN 1918

Legislature Submits Prohibition Question to People.

Madison, Wis., May 11.—Wisconsin—the wettest state in the Union—will vote on the question of prohibition in the spring of 1918. This was practically decided when the state senate engrossed and then passed under suspension of the rules the Ely bill, providing for a statewide referendum in April, 1918. The bill is expected to be signed by Governor E. L. Phillips this week. The vote by which the bill was passed was 21 to 11. Eight amendments to the bill were rejected.

This man would administer regulatory features of the laws governing distribution and price fixing, leaving to the agricultural department enforcement of provisions to stimulate production.

The emergency organization would follow the lines suggested for such an agency by Mr. Hoover after a study of similar organizations in the allied countries.

Many administration leaders are convinced, it is said, creation of the emergency organization is vital to conservation of the food supply and an undue inflation of prices.

Food Control Bill Drawn.

The senate agriculture subcommittee agreed on provisions of a food control bill to be introduced by Sen. Gore. It is similar in most respects to the first of the food administration bills offered in the house by Representative Lever and would make available immediately an appropriation for a food survey.

Secretary Houston in a statement declared early passage of the bills is essential to successful conduct of the war.

"The government," he said, "is anxious to get the power conferred by the bills and this power is no greater than the power already given all European governments.

"There is no more urgent matter before us than the food question. We need food for ourselves and our allies. Until the bills are passed we cannot co-ordinate our efforts properly with our allies."

Power for the president to give food shipments preference over other commodities probably will be asked in a separate resolution instead of incorporating it in the present bills.

Congress will be asked to hurry consideration of the bill giving the government direction of exports.
